

War Council Announces Informal Dance to Raise Gift for Red Cross Fund

To Be Held in Union
January 23; Eddie
Alexander Will Play

The first McGill dance since the outbreak of war, devoted to raising War Relief Funds, will be held in the McGill Union on Friday, Jan. 23. The dance, which is to be informal, is being sponsored by the War Council. Music will be provided by Eddie Alexander and his orchestra. Tickets are selling at $1.50, and may be obtained from the members of the committee.

The dance will be the largest ever held in the McGill Union. Arrangements are being made whereby a capacity attendance can be accommodated in both the ballroom and the reading-room.

Nationwide Scheme
The Red Cross Dance is a direct result of plans put forward last fall by the University of British Columbia. These plans call for a chain of dances, sponsored by Canadian universities, across the continent. The scheme has been accepted by most, and the date definitely set as January 23.

Last year, U.B.C. held a similar dance in order to raise funds for the Red Cross. This project realized $2,000.00, which is by far the greatest contribution ever made in this fashion by a Canadian university.

Organizations Co-operate
All campus clubs and institutions connected with the dance have volunteered to help. The McGill Union has granted use of the building for the occasion, and several clubs have agreed to assist in specialized capacities.

The committee believes that this dance will have a wide appeal among McGill students. "It is to be informal, and will be a 'McGill' dance in the widest sense of the term. Further, students will be prompted by a spirit of rivalry, in striving to have their Alma Mater make the most worthy donation."

All associations connected with McGill, as well as the university proper, will take part in the project. The Graduates' Society and the Graduate School have already indicated that it will receive their wholehearted support.

The committee appointed by the War Council to attend to the arrangements has been announced as: Shlagel Gilmour—chairman; Sylvia Grove; Elizabeth Hillman; Stewart Willis; Norman Retallack; Bill Munroe; Don Delvin; Peter Hall; Charles Perrault.

M.R.T.B. Band
There will be a practice of the M.R.T.B. Band at 7.30 p.m. on Monday in the Armory.

McGILL RESERVE TRAINING BATTALION
All exchanges, extra and defaulters' parades called for the 10th of January 1942 are cancelled, and are to be carried out on the 24th January 1942.

Board Will Post Lists
For Buyers of Annual

The Board of the McGill Annual has announced that lists will be posted Monday in the buildings of all faculties, to be signed by students who wish to buy a copy of the Annual.

The price of the year book will not be required in cash, but will be deducted from the Caution Money deposit of each person buying the Annual. The number of books printed is based on the number of students signing the lists, and the editorial board advises signing early, as paper restrictions may limit production. "Prompt signing will assure you an 'Old McGill' and will help the Annual Board," advised the Editor-in-Chief, Alex Stalker.

To assist in the administration of the new program and the reorganization of the School of Commerce, an Advisory Committee, composed of prominent business leaders of the country, has been appointed. Reorganization was begun last year by Dr. F. Cyril James before he was appointed Principal of the University.

The members of the Advisory Council are as follows: Dr. James, chairman; L. J. Belnap, president, Consolidated Paper Corporation, Limited; Samuel Bronfman, president, Distillers Corporation, Limited; Sidney Dobson, general manager, Royal Bank of Canada; Gilbert Jackson, Toronto; J. D. Johnson, president, Canada Cement Company; G. W. Spinney, joint general manager, Bank of Montreal; H. P. Thornhill, associate treasurer, Sun Life Assurance Company.

McGill Air-Force Squad To Visit St. Hubert

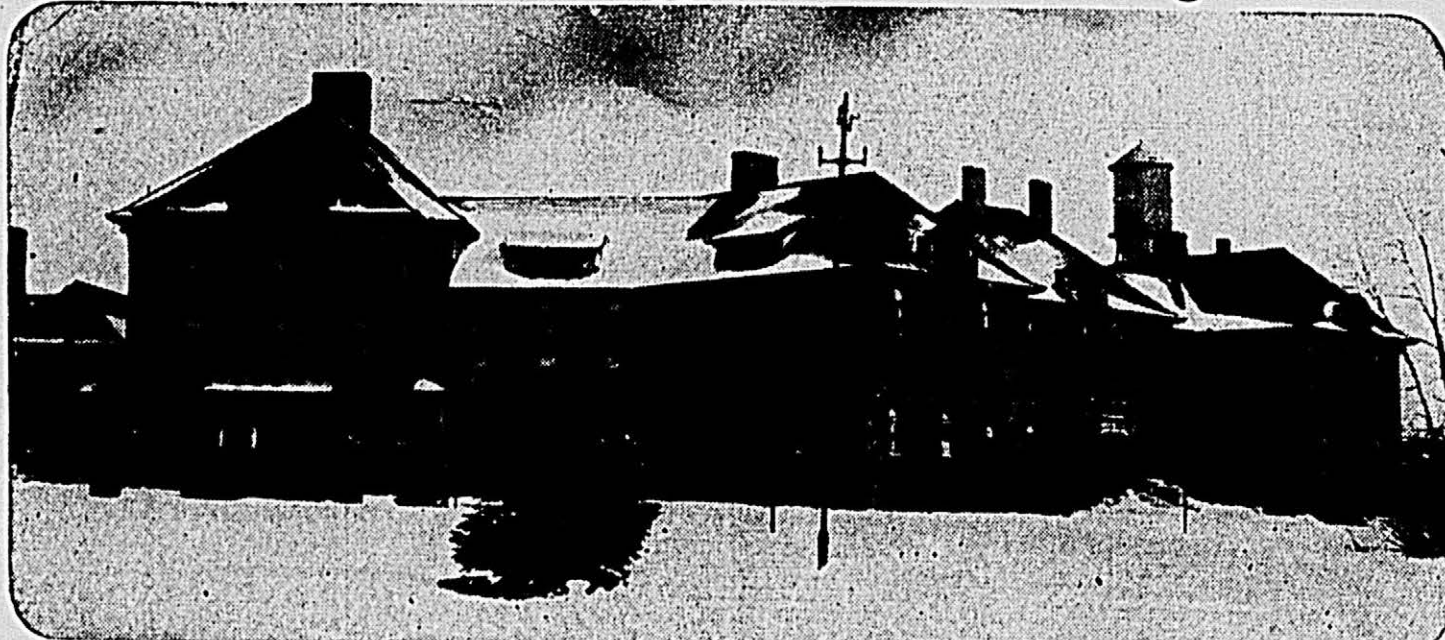

The Air-Force Detachment of the C.O.T.C. will pay a group visit to the R.C.A.F. Training School at St. Hubert tomorrow, it was disclosed last night.

It is understood that the purpose of the visit will be to provide the men training with the detachment with an understanding of conditions at a regular Commonwealth Air Training Plan base.

The parade has been called for 1300 hours (1 o'clock) and the group will meet in full uniform at the armory. Transportation to the field will be provided from here.

Airforce great-coats have been issued to the detachment and each member is in full uniform.

C.W.A.C. to Occupy Macdonald Buildings

The Canadian Women's Army Corps will be billeted at Macdonald College, where a national headquarters for the unit will be established. The Women's Residence, shown above, will be used as a barracks; the other buildings to be requisitioned are the horticultural barn, the machinery hall, and a portion of the administration building. The arrangement will continue for the duration of the war, during which time the School for Teachers will carry on at McGill.

McGill Men Win Debate

War Marriages
Upheld Against
Montreal Team

McGill debated, last night, against the University of Montreal in the Plateau Auditorium. The subject of the discussion was "War-time Marriages"; McGill upheld them, and Montreal opposed. Alex Stalker and Albert Gadois, who supported the subject for McGill, were successful. Alex Stalker opened the debate speaking in English. He averred that wartime marriages are beneficial to mortality and to morale, and would occasion an increase in the birthrate.

Marcel Baudouin of Montreal spoke next. His argument was based on his statement that happiness in war-time marriage is short and that the inevitable result of such unions must be disillusionment and misery.

He was followed by Albert Gadois of McGill, who spoke in French. His chief argument was that a wife is bound to give courage to her soldier husband and to support him in his career since he would fight more bravely through having a home as well as his country and rights to defend.

The second speaker for Montreal was Marcel Robitaille. Love must be tempered with reason, he stated, if marriage is to be really worth while. It is the first year of married life which is most important and continual fear of separation and even death can have no good effect.

Thereupon ensued an intermission of fifteen minutes, after which the speakers refuted each other in reverse order and in the language opposed to that in which they had first spoken. Later open questions were put to the debaters.

The judges were, Mayor Merrill, Senator Beauregard, Senator Huggessen and Judge Monette.

Grant Donated By Springle

Money to Be Devoted to Medical Research

A sum of $10,000, from the funds left for charitable purposes by the late Mr. Hobart Springle, has been donated to McGill University for the purpose of research at the Montreal Neurological Institute. According to the expressed desire of his wife, this grant is considered as a memorial to Mr. Springle. The money will be devoted to research in the new field of electroencephalography.

The present electroencephalographical laboratory in the Montreal Neurological Institute was made possible through the donation of Mr. J. W. McConnell and the late Sir Herbert Holt. The expenses of the laboratory for the first four years are being covered by a grant made by the Rockefeller Institute. This grant expires this year.

Teachers' School Moves To Strathcona Hall Soon

S.C.M. Will Occupy New University St. Quarters

Strathcona Hall will be occupied, within a week, by the students of the School for Teachers from Macdonald College. This move has been made because the Teachers' Building at the college has been requisitioned by the Canadian Government to house the Canadian Women's Army Corps.

At the request of Principal James, the Advisory Board of the Student Christian Movement, the body which administered Strathcona Hall, consented to turn over the building to the University for the duration of the war. The Hall will be remodelled to include classrooms, so that there may be a minimum of disturbance in the students' work in the course of the transit.

The whole Teachers' School will be moved, and accommodation provided in and around McGill for them. Such students as have homes in Montreal will reside there; of the remainder, the women will occupy rooms in Strathcona Hall, and some half-dozen men are to be accommodated in the new S.C.M. headquarters on University Street. Having vacated the Hall, the Students' Christian Movement (Continued on Page Four)

A.P.S. Council Elects Foster

Macdonald Physics
Professor Is Now at M.I.T.

Dr. James Stuart Foster, Macdonald Professor of Physics at the University, has been elected to the council of the American Physical Society.

Professor Foster, who has been granted leave of absence for war-time duties, had planned to build a cyclotron for the purpose of research in nuclear physics. Owing to the outbreak of the war, however, he turned his energies to war research which has led him to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Boston, where he will remain until June.

His election to the council of the American Physical Society took place at a recent meeting of the Society at Princeton, and followed on an earlier decision to elect a Canadian research worker during the war period.

Dr. Foster is recognized as one of the foremost authorities on the subject of nuclear physics and was elected some time ago to the Royal Society in London. The atom-smasher was to be housed in a building supposed to occupy the present site of the Y.W.C.A. rinks.

Awards Given To Women Only

Social Scientists
In Particular
Will Be Favoured

Notification has been received by the Registrar of this University that the Dominion Scholarships of the British Council, which have heretofore been open to both men and women, will be awarded to women alone until the end of the war.

Four scholarships of £300 each will give an opportunity to enterprising women, suitably qualified, of studying war conditions in Britain. Since the object of the awards is to allow for the development of experience in the general organization of the British Nation under wartime conditions, and the application of the acquired knowledge here towards the development of a total effort. For this purpose students of Social Health, Economics, Surgery, Social Service, and social affairs in general, would be most suitable.

Each Canadian University will choose its own candidates, the names of whom will be turned in to the National Conference of Canadian Universities. This body will finally select the successful candidates. Information may be obtained from the Registrar's office on this subject.

U. of T. Meds Ask Admission To Medical Forces as Trainees

The Medical Society of the University of Toronto has proposed to government leaders that medical students in third and fourth year medicine should "be admitted to enlist at once, as trainees, in the medical units of the Navy, Army, or Air Force." A further proposal endorsed the completion of the students' medical courses at the expense of the government before going into a branch of the armed medical service.

The proposal was made by Dr. J. L. Ralston, Defence Minister, and the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Dominion Conservative Leader. The society suggested that students found physically unfit for armed service at the end of their training, should be placed in civilian medical service.

An alternative proposal suggested government loans to medical students for the duration of the war. The society stated that the first proposal is favoured, because it permits the students to take an active part in the war as soon as possible. Since the onset of the war, students have been unable to earn sufficient money during the summer to meet their tuition fees, because summer holidays have been cut in half to meet the demand for doctors. This demand, it was estimated, will not be filled for 32 years, because, while 500 doctors graduate each year, there is an annual loss through death of 380 established practitioners.

Co-eds Take A.R.P. Course

Extinguishing of Bombs and Fires
To Be Taught

Final arrangements for the training of the coeds in Air Raid Precaution were completed today. With the permission of Director R. E. Pare and under the direction of Lieut. C. L. Blackstead of the Montreal Fire Department, 390 McGill girls will be given a course of lectures and demonstrations in rescue work and in dealing with incendiary bombs and large fires. The course will be the first of its kind to be given in Canada.

The lectures which will be given three times a week will start on Monday. A demonstration will be given by Lieutenant Blackstead on the campus after each lecture. At these demonstrations the girls will be given ample opportunity to put out incendiary bombs and will learn the technique of handling heavy hose in putting out large bonfires.

There will be 130 girls in each class. Real incendiary bombs and gasoline fires set in the campus or in open fields will be dealt with by each class after they have been given instructions on the methods of dealing with the particular type of fire confronting them.

Quite considerable time will be spent in dealing with problems of public health and instruction will be given on gases and protection from them. Further arrangements are now underway to evolve a full detailed plan of action in event of any emergency. The men will also take part and general training may be effected.

Labs Occupied By R.C.A.F.

150 Will Sit
For Final Tests
Next Week

The newly constructed quarters on the top floor of the University's Physics Building have been taken over by the R.C.A.F. radiolocator squad stationed at the United Theological College.

The facilities turned over to the R.C.A.F. include two large laboratories, together with smaller demonstration rooms and offices. Previous to this, the Airmen had been using the older Physics laboratories.

Out of the 300 radio technicians at McGill, 150 will sit for their final examinations sometime next week. Another group is expected in their place as soon as this group leaves.

Dr. Keys, assisted by a staff of 42 lecturers and demonstrators, is in charge of the instruction of the radio technicians. In addition to this teaching, he is carrying on with his regular university work and on behalf of the Wartime Bureau of Technical Personnel is also conducting a registration of persons who have had training in research methods.

The radiolocator's course covers selected practical parts of a full university course in radio engineering. It also includes those elements of theory which are now necessary for a specialized technician in this field.

Dr. F. James Will Leave Canada on Three Weeks Visit to British Isles

To Board of Governors

Dr. Selwyn G. Blaylock, a graduate of McGill University, and President of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada Limited, has been elected a member of the board of governors of McGill for a term of five years.

Dr. Blaylock received his B.Sc. degree in 1899, and thirty years later was honored with the degree of LL.D. He is a member of the Mining and Metallurgy Institutes of Canada, America, London and Australia and in 1935 won the platinum medal of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy "for distinguished contribution to Canada's mining industry."

Dr. Blaylock fills one of the two vacancies on the board of governors created by the death of Sir Herbert Holt and the Right Hon. Arthur Purvis.

States Handling Jap Status Well

Outlines Position
Of Native-Born

Handling the Japanese population scattered all over the Union is constituting a big task for the United States which is accomplishing it well, according to Professor Laviolette of the Sociology Department, who has just returned from the meeting of the American Sociological Association in New York.

Dr. Laviolette found that the many thousands of American-born Japanese in the United States are desirous of promoting the interests of the States. "American-born Japanese have been discriminated against in Japan," Professor Laviolette stated. "They know that if Japan ever dominated the Pacific, as is its intention, this discrimination might well be extended to Japanese who are now quite content to remain outside the jurisdiction of the Land of the Rising Sun."

He pointed out that the United States army contained 2500 to 3000 Japanese when the Americans entered the war. One of these Japanese held the rank of major in the artillery.

Dean Meakins of Medicine Appointed
Acting-Principal

Dr. F. Cyril James, Principal and Vice-Chancellor of the university, will shortly leave Canada for the British Isles in his capacity of Chairman of the Committee on Reconstruction, it has been disclosed. Dean J. C. Meakins of the Faculty of Medicine has been appointed to the post of Acting-Principal during the absence of Dr. James.

The Principal's visit to England will last for about three weeks, it is expected. No specific date of departure has been announced, and, following the customary Canadian war-time policy, the mode of transportation remains a military secret.

Because of the fact that the departure will necessarily be abrupt, the university has completed full plans for the inter-regnum. Dr. Meakins is prepared to step in upon immediate notice.

Contact British Leaders

The exact purpose of the Principal's overseas visit will be to contact responsible British parties who are now engaged in formulating the post-war plans of that country. It is expected that ideas will be exchanged and some common policies evolved.

The Reconstruction Committee of which Dr. James is Chairman is an advisory committee to the cabinet. It is designed to aid the government by recommending the type of organization that will be needed to assist the country in a transition from war to peace-time economy.

Full problems pertaining to the demobilization of members of the armed forces as well as the potential uses to which some of the country's vast new industrial units may be put will come, more or less, under the scope of Dr. James's committee.

Dean Meakins Will Act

Dean Meakins, who has been named to act as principal during the absence of Dr. James, is dean of the Faculty of Medicine, Professor of Medicine, Chairman of the Department of Medicine, and Director of the University Medical Clinic.

Arts Undergrad Society Launches New War Loan

Bond No. 1, in both the $100 and $50 denominations of the second Victory Loan to be launched next month, will go to the Arts Undergraduate Society of McGill, declared Mr. G. W. Spinney, chairman of the National War Finance Committee.

In addition to the bonds, the Arts Undergraduate Society has received the honour of firing the first shot in the campaign. The undergrads made the first advance contribution to the loan; and as their treasurer, Gordon Greaves presented the $150 cheque to Mr. Spinney, he promised the support of the McGill societies to any of the efforts to raise funds for the war.

Footnotes

We have before us a letter to the co-chairman of the McGill Mile of Pennies Campaign dated from Ottawa on December 30, 1941. We think you'll be a little interested.

Dear Mr. Willis:

The Acting Deputy Minister of National Defence has brought to my attention the donation of $818.50, being the proceeds of the "Mile of Pennies Campaign" held on the Campus of McGill University under the auspices of the Students' Executive Council, towards the purchase of two Bren Guns.

Let me say on behalf of myself and my colleagues in the Government of Canada that we all deeply appreciate this very generous gift. Will you please convey to all those who contributed towards it our sincere thanks. It is appreciated not only for its amount, although this is substantial, but for the spirit it expresses and the example it sets.

Yours very truly,
J. L. Hiseley.

The Mile of Pennies campaign was the largest single item to appear in the Financial Report of the McGill Students' War Fund from its inception to December 31, 1941. The total donations fell just four cents short of $2,500. Still this total does not include the amount that students gave from their caution money to the War Services Fund, nor the proceeds of the McGill-Black Watch hockey game. Nor does it include the value of the salvage collected, which was sold by National Salvage and turned over to the Red Cross without entering the Council books.

Staff Changes

During the Christmas holidays, several changes were made in the Daily masthead. Most notable is the departure of Sid Schachter from his post as Exchange Editor (and onetime Editor-in-Chief of the Engineering Daily) to take up a position with the R.C.A.F. The Managing Board, members of the Daily staff, and all those who knew him at McGill wish him success in this new venture.

Raymond Ayoub, able reporter and night editor for the past two years, and famed at McGill as a mathematical wizard, will take over Sid's job as clipper-in-chief of McGill Daily filler.

Max Schuller and Bob MacIntosh have been promoted to well-earned positions as night editors in the sports department, while Milt Fry takes his leave of the Daily staff.

Red Cross Dance

A 'must' on everyone's list is the Red Cross Dance to take place next Friday evening in the McGill Union.

The dance here is part of a series being held all across Canada on the same date, proceeds from all of them going to the Canadian Red Cross. We understand that McGill's committee will turn over the total takings to the Red Cross, and the expenses will be born by the Students' Council.

Last year the University of British Columbia collected $2,000 from their dance, and are driving for the same objective this year. McGill's objective is set much lower, and consequently should be that much easier of attainment. Providing everyone helps.

Music Reviews

MACMILLAN AND DANSEUREAU

With Les Concerts Symphoniques:

Two of Canada's finest musicians, Sir Ernest Macmillan and Jean Danseureau, both old friends of Montreal audiences, were guests of Les Concerts Symphoniques at Tuesday night's concert at Plateau Hall. Both were received enthusiastically by a large audience that filled the hall.

Mr. Danseureau was heard in Schumann's A Minor Piano Concerto. Schumann wrote many times that one of his aims was to make music happier; certainly this aim is realized in the Concerto, abounding in genial happiness. While Schumann, who painted the last strokes to nineteenth-century romanticism, was more successful in his shorter works, his great mastery of pianoforte composition has established the Concerto among the greatest of works for the instrument. The first movement was written in 1841 as a Fantasia and was later incorporated into the Concerto. In place of the Adagio, Schumann wrote an Intermezzo which forms a splendid contrast in its graceful setting to the first movement with its Andante.

The motive of the "allegro molto," with which the first movement ends, takes us to the finale which is treated in the old rondo style. Mr. Danseureau's performance showed fine clarity and control, although one is accustomed to a more lyrical approach. The rippling embellishments in the solo instrument, of which Schumann was so fond, accompanying themes in the orchestra came out most satisfyingly.

The orchestra's principal contribution to the program was the Second Symphony of Sibelius, in which the musicians led by Sir Ernest did some good work. The symphony, like everything of Sibelius, is written in a highly personal idiom, and there are many points of interest—the aphorisms accompanying the first theme, the simplicity of the harmonic structure and the attenuated orchestration. It is perhaps significant that in the past few years Sibelius has been played progressively less frequently. It may be that the feeling of this reviewer that Sibelius cannot stand too frequent hearings is becoming more generally shared. The extreme national character of the music, the evanescent quality of much of it, and the monotony of the orchestration with its small groupings and solo passages are traits which contribute to this view.

The concert began with a spirited performance of the Overture to Borodine's "Prince Igor" and included the Overture to Rossini's "Barber of Seville," graceful and bubbling, which brought forward the best playing of the evening.

The next concert of Les Concerts Symphoniques will take place on the 27th of January, when Desire Defaux will return to the podium and the soloist will be the Canadian violinist, Arthur Leblanc.

Parliament On Parade

By ALAN HARVEY

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the first of a series of weekly articles written for the Canadian University Press from the Canadian capital by Alan Harvey, Ottawa newspaperman who in 1939-40 was sports editor of "The Varsity," undergraduate newspaper of the University of Toronto.)

Ottawa, January 15.—(CUP)—Around a massive circular table in the east block offices of the parliament buildings important new decisions apparently are in the making on the issue of conscription for overseas service—and indications are the status of university students will not be affected.

The measures that have been or will be formulated naturally are closely-guarded secrets known only to the men directing government policy, and they are pledged to secrecy. What provisions will be made for university students under new manpower legislation therefore is a hazardous guess, but the feeling in well-informed quarters seems to be that present arrangements between universities and the Department of National Defence are working satisfactorily.

"The present arrangement is in the interest of the nation and it does not seem likely the administration proposes to change it," one informant said.

From the known facts relating to the manpower problem as a whole, one likely surmise can be drawn—that some far-reaching announcement may be expected shortly, probably when Canada's 19th Parliament since Confederation opens its third session January 22.

If no declaration is forthcoming, political strategists predict the green chamber of the House of Commons will become a battleground for heated discussion on extension of compulsory service laws.

The forthcoming session may indeed be one of the most important political assemblies of the war.

Spurred by growing pressure from political and private groups for unlimited conscription, the manpower question has been under intensive study by the administration. Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, new national leader of the Conservative party, has declared himself unequivocally in support of unlimited conscription.

And some of Prime Minister Mackenzie King's own followers—including at least three members of his party in the House of Commons—have placed themselves on record in favor of conscription for service outside Canada.

Responsible cabinet members have signified the administration plans some form of selective service. The crucial question seems to be whether this will involve extension of compulsory service provisions inherent in the National Resources Mobilization Act to include service on foreign battlefronts, or whether it will call merely for a more comprehensive program of service in Canada, including the drafting of men for industry and farm labor.

STRAWS IN THE WIND

"We will mobilize manpower for the greater production of munitions and food so as to be an asset to our friends and allies. We will organize our women to work in the arsenals, the shops and the factories..." Hon. Charles Gavin Power, Minister of National Defence for Air, in a speech at Montreal December 13.

"Before 12 months have passed the whole manpower of Canada will be organized..." Hon. James G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, at Arthur, Ont., December 2.

BEWARE THE WITCH

Anyone who feels that our freshmen are just babes in arms being sent in against the latest forms of female efficiency in the current Freshmen Parties just isn't acquainted with the facts. Skidmore freshmen are just girls with old-fashioned techniques when compared with the rigorous date training given the average freshman co-ed being prepared for her first onslaught on "introduction parties."

Our correspondents inform us that Massachusetts State co-eds are among the leaders of the pack in this new form of feminine mechanization. To demonstrate our point as to the state of comparative helpless femininity that is a Skidmore freshman, we will quote certain salient passages in the training booklet published by Bay State senior girls for instruction of the neophytes.

First important information instructs the co-ed: "Don't be choosy at first. Some fellows can introduce you to some good future dates if you're smart."

Then, "On dating, the advice is to hold on to your kisses 'till you find somebody you really want to give them to."

Other warnings include: "Don't be possessive. It is the easiest way to lose a date."

"Don't drink more than two if you drink at all. You can still be sociable without drinking."

"Don't believe an eighth of what you hear."

"Don't forget that boys talk about girls... and if you 'neck' with one man, all his brothers will know it soon."

The seniors conclude by advising "Wear your girdle unless you're a veritable nymph—the day of the hip swinging siren is gone."

Efficient? Brother, your Skidmore freshman is just an old-fashioned girl—Cocorid-casis.

"I can tell a lady by the way she dresses, can't you?"

"Dunno, never watched one."

America Goes To War...

(From The Dartmouth.)

Like everything else we suppose it is inevitable that this somewhat grim business of going to war must, too, have its lighter side. Though some of the following could not really be classed as comic, here are a few items which have recently come before the public eyes.

Of New Hampshire's own Senator Tobey is told the following tale. It seems that during the Congressional Christmas furlough, our hero was seen promenading the streets of Temple one day. As he was taking in the view, he was accosted by a matronly haus-frau carry a nearly furled umbrella.

"Aren't you Senator Tobey?"

"Why, yes, madam."

Whereupon the lady took the bumbushoot firmly by the handle, quickly but effectively brought it down over the crown of the Senator's derby, complacently refurled it and stalked off.

And then there's the affair of the couple—American citizens of Nipponese extraction—who were eating placidly in a Detroit restaurant served by a glowering Filipino. At the end of the meal, driven to distraction by the size of the tip, it is reported, the waiter abandoned all restraint and beamed the departing guests with a tray.

Also from Detroit we hear about an unidentified dealer in a certain very popular low priced car. Hearing that there was an anticipated shortage in production for the industry and mindful of Howling Harold's oil shortage last summer, our enterprising friend decided to lay in a stock. He is now saddled with about five hundred shiny new Fords and a not-so-shiny but somewhat newer SPAB order telling him he cannot sell them.

Problems in transportation being what they are these days of new automobile sale bans and tire rationing, this contribution shows to what extremes we may be forced to go to secure a ride. This item, incidentally, comes to us via the Manchester Union, "New Hampshire's One Big Newspaper," owned by Navy Secretary Frank Knox.

Desiring some means of getting to Concord, a Portsmouth, N.H., man called up a local funeral director last Thursday and made arrangements for a funeral for his mother, who had just passed away. An expensive coffin was ordered, and flowers were purchased for the funeral ceremony that was to be held in Concord.

On Saturday, the day of the last rites for the deceased, the undertaker and son of the recently departed put the coffin in the hearse and set out for the Capital City.

No sooner had the undertaker reached Concord and stopped the car for traffic, the son opened the door of the car and fled. Somewhat bewildered at this move, the undertaker went around to the back of the hearse, opened the door, and found the mother, very much alive, ready to greet him.

What's become of the "body," we haven't heard, and what's become of the son, the state police haven't heard, either.

In fact New Hampshire seems to be a center of this difficulty peculiar to our new war. A young lady of our acquaintance came up to Concord the other day to attend the wedding of some distant connection. Unable to get hold of a taxi for a six o'clock train to Boston, she called the local police department and explained it was a matter of life or death. They sent up a police car which took her to the station and notified the railroad that the train mustn't leave till she was aboard. She arrived in New York just in time to see a gentleman friend bound for the University of Virginia off on a Washington plane.

Snowflakes

by J.B.

As some of you will recall, this and sundry other columns have appeared in the pages of this renowned publication in an effort to make you get out and run. The large number of lads and lassies that have turned up to gaily dot the landscape anywhere from St. Agathe to Piedmont are a worthy reward for our efforts and offer you a challenge to do likewise and have some fun.

For those of you who are new to college or who are taking up skiing for the first time, a word of explanation may be useful. The Outing Club, through one of its committees, has taken upon itself the work of organizing and conducting short and long cross-country trips in our north country. Competent leaders and end-men (yes, we even have somebody to pick you up!) are chosen with a knowledge of the trail, of the softest spots and with the ability to light a fire with not less than one match-box. The routes are chosen so that the tour will not develop into a cross-country race to catch the last train into town, but are long enough so that the entire day is spent out on the trail, with everyone feeling pleasantly refreshed at the end.

Due to a break-down on the part of old Mother Nature during the holidays, no trips were possible. However, she seems to have perked up considerably since then, with snow conditions being perfect for a nice short tour this Sunday. To this end we have secured the services of that old-ski-hound, "Jackrabbit" Johansson to lead a tour from Val Morin to Mont Rolland on the 18th. Those of you who were fortunate enough to go on any of his trips last year will remember with pleasure the great time that he gave us. The tour is scheduled to leave Val Morin at 11.15 daylight time. This means that those of you making a practice of sleeping in on Sunday will have to forego a little of your precious sleep and catch either the 8.30 train from Windsor or the 9.15 from Place Viger (all times daylight, remember). The tour will proceed from Val Morin to Chalet Cochand. After eating your sandwiches, those still able to ski will climb to Grand View and enjoy a glorious schuss down to Lake Purvis. Whether or not it is glorious depends on you, fair skier. After picking up the casualties, the next stop is Hill 60 through a little bush. And thus hence to Mont Rolland, where there is a final drop to the station and home.

Don't forget: the time, 11.15 daylight, the place, Val Morin and last but not least, plenty to eat, (if you can't eat it, the leaders can). Good luck and I hope to see you there.

McGILL HOOPSTERS MEET OILERS

Students Admitted Free To Game Tomorrow

Mount Royal, Westmount Open Doubleheader at 8.15 p.m. In McGill Gymnasium

McGill students will be admitted free of charge to all Saturday games of the Montreal-Basketball League at the McGill gym on Saturday evenings on presentation of their library cards at the door. There will be a doubleheader every Saturday evening, the first game commencing at 8.15 p.m. Since McGill have officially taken over the Orphans in this league the ranks of this team will be thrown open to any students at McGill who are capable of making the team. The team is playing in McGill uniforms and deserves a full out student support. This will be the only team which McGill will be entering in an outside league this season.

McGill have adopted the Orphans of the Montreal Basketball League and once more the red and white of old McGill may be seen competing with outside teams in the M.B.L. Their next scheduled game sees the Redmen meeting up with the league leading Oilers of Johnnie Ferraro and company in the nightcap of a doubleheader to be played in the McGill gym tomorrow night. The first game of the doubleheader will begin at 8.15 p.m. when Mount Royal centre off with Westmount Y.

Tomorrow night's game will be the fifth game for the Redmen but will be the first time that most students will be able to turn out and root for their Redmen as of yore. Although McGill have only succeeded in registering two wins in their four starts to date nevertheless, Coach Van Wagner hopes that with the morale support of the student body at the games the Redmen may achieve success reminiscent of the good old days. Coach Van Wagner pointed out that there is room for several more players on the team and anyone interested in trying out for the team should get in touch with him immediately.

REDMEN LOSE TO PATS.

In their last game the Redmen went down to defeat before the Pats after running their lead up to 9-0 in the early stages of the game. In this game played at the Y.M.H.A. last Wednesday the Redmen appeared to have a definite edge over their opponents for the major part of the game but straighter shooting on the part of the Pats when close in was the telling story as the Redmen lost the game in the dying moments 32-29.

Bert Holdredge was the spark plug for McGill in their attack on the Pats as well as top scorer for the Redmen, accounting for eight of their points. Working with Mumford and Munro on the forward line Holdredge led the Redmen to the attack, as the trio accounted for 12 of McGill's 16 points in the opening half.

McGILL LEAD AT HALF

Although showing some signs of tiring the Redmen looked good for a win as they finished the half with the count 16-13 over the Pats. Opening the second half the Redmen again showed their fast play which led them to the early commanding lead and ran the score to 19-13 before Pats saw the basket.

Pats now came back strong, however, and soon were leading 20-19. Their lead was short lived, however, and Holdredge soon found the basket to again put the Redmen in front. After running their lead up to 25-20 though McGill again showed signs of tiring and once more Pats surged into the lead which they never relinquished.

Last night Coach Van Wagner had his newly adopted charges out practising shooting and by tomorrow's game time they should be able to sink the ball from all angles. Tomorrow's game will be the hardest test for the Redmen to date as the Oilers have yet to lose a game in their six starts.

With some student support however the Redmen should be right in their fighting and since McGill students may get into the games on presentation of their library cards there should be a large turnout.

Following is the box score of Wednesday's game:

SUPPORT THE REDMEN

The Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gym provides a very entertaining Saturday evening for those enthusiasts who enjoy a good brand of basketball. Each week there is a double bill in the senior division of the Montreal Cage League and now that McGill has its own team in the circuit, every student that can should certainly not miss this fine show. Remember each McGill student gets a free admission upon the showing of his or her Library card so if any one is not aware of this, just trot up to the gym next Saturday night and see for yourself. McGill will take on the Oilers in one half of the bill and Mount Royal hooks up with Westmount in the other.

Coeds Enter Slalom At Domain d'Estrel

The Ladies' Giant Slalom Race, an annual event at the Domain d'Estrel, will be held next Sunday afternoon, Jan. 18, at two o'clock. A trio of McGill coeds will be on hand to support the old alma mater in the zig zag event. It will be the first time in three years that we will be competing at Estrel, this time in the persons of Joan C. Anderson, Joan Johnson, and Joy Thompson. Frances McLeod, former McGill racing star, who played an important part in our inter-city successes, will be present leading a sextette of Penguins.

An exciting feature of this race will be the selection of representatives from the class "B" entrants for Canada's team in the International race.

The next significant date on the McGill ski calendar is the Seigney Club Inter-City event on Feb. 7, for which the coeds now hold the cup; however, whether or not the girls will enter this year has not been settled. Due to regulations governing intercollegiate athletics, the team may be forced to forego this opportunity of defending their title.

Board of Reference of C.I.A.U. Clarify College Athletic Situation

At the close of last term there was a general agitation among the students at McGill, Toronto, Queens, and Western for a definite clarification of the existing C.I.A.U. ruling, whereby intercollegiate sports between these colleges were discontinued for the duration of the war. With this view in mind the Board of Reference met in Toronto on Jan. 3 and set forth a six point program in regard to college athletics to be followed for the duration.

COLLEGES ENTER LEAGUES

In effect the agreement allows the colleges concerned to play home games with any other teams and also to enter local leagues. Thus, athletics at McGill may be widened in scope since outside teams may be brought in to play home games and McGill will be allowed to enter any Montreal leagues in the future. According to the interpretation which McGill put on the previous ruling neither of these types of games were allowed.

STATEMENT CLARIFIES POINT

At the close of the meeting Principal H. J. Cody of Toronto University issued the following statement as chairman of the conference between the four universities, which the Daily publishes in full in order that there may be no misunderstanding of the decision arrived at;

"After the outbreak of the War the Conference of Canadian Universities had several meetings with the military authorities in Ottawa to learn what the Government wished undergraduates to do in relation to our war effort. The result of these consultations was that under the conditions then existing, which might however be radically changed by developments in the war situation, students were urged to complete their courses as thoroughly and as speedily as possible before enlisting for active service; those enrolled in medicine, dentistry, engineering and science were specially urged to finish their professional training. The well-trained man, it was believed, would be of more value to the great cause, whether he served in industry or in one of the several branches of the Active Service Forces. But undergraduates, who were British subjects and physically fit had to join the Officers' Training Corps or a Training Centre Battalion at the University, and at the close of the term had to go to camp for a prescribed period. It was thus wisely made possible by the Government for students

Canada-wide Ski Patrol Club Formed

McGill Outing Club Members Eligible for New Organization

One of the new developments to come out during the past year has been in connection with the formation of a nationwide Ski Patrol System which is destined to play a major role in the annals of Canadian skiing.

This organization which has been long awaited was formed by the Canadian Amateur Ski Association during the past summer, and will act as a national co-operative movement. The object of such an association will be to guard against increasing ski accidents, and to give first aid service on ski slopes and trails in all Canadian ski zones.

The plans of this organization have been carefully laid down, and are on somewhat similar lines as those formed a few years ago in the United States. The Canadian Ski Patrol System is being administered by each ski zone in Canada, and each zone is headed by a vice-chairman.

There are certain definite qualifications for all patrolmen among which are the following: Men and women, 18 years of age and over are eligible. They

Canadian Nickel

YESTERDAY... IN AIR LINERS TODAY... IN BOMBERS

IN TIME OF PEACE, aeroplane engineers learned to make use of Canadian Nickel. It gave increased strength with reduced weight. It made metals tough, strong, rust-resistant. It increased the margin of safety, the flying range.

And now in Canadian, British and American fighters and bombers, Canadian Nickel has assumed a vital role. To many an airman it may mean the difference between life and death, between victory and defeat.

So today the Canadian Nickel mines, smelters and refineries operate day and night. The production of Canadian Nickel has reached an all-time peak. The 20,000 employees of the Canadian Nickel industry have joined in an all-out effort to help speed Empire defence.

dents to carry on simultaneously both their academic and their military training. Though some further modifications have been made, this is substantially the practice now in operation. Members of the Universities from the staff, the graduates and the undergraduates have already enlisted in the Active Service Forces in large numbers, and have seen service and met death and imprisonment, more particularly while serving in the Navy and the Air.

The time spent in drill and military lectures necessarily made inroads on the time formerly spent in recreation. It was therefore agreed upon by the Universities Conference, at first to discontinue all inter-collegiate competitions for the duration of the War, and later to leave this matter to be decided by the Universities in broad districts of Canada such as the Maritimes, the Central Provinces, the Prairie Provinces and the Far West, according to the conditions peculiar to those districts. The general aim, in accordance with which decisions would be made, was the avoidance of expense in travelling and of interference with the paramount needs of military training. It was realized that athletics play a great part in keeping men in good physical condition and in preparing Canadian youth for a maximum war effort. Regulation, not suppression, was the keynote of the University action.

A meeting was therefore held on June 18th, 1941, at Kingston, for the consideration of the policy to be adopted by the four senior members of the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union in regard to athletic activities for the season 1941-42; and a further meeting was held in Toronto on January 3rd, 1942, to clarify some uncertainties that had arisen in regard to the application of the general principles to particular cases. At this latter meeting there were present representatives from the Universities of McGill, Queen's, Toronto and Western (including the Heads of three of them) and their representatives on the Board of Reference of the C.I.A.U. The following procedures were unanimously agreed upon:

1. No intercollegiate competition between the Senior, Intermediate or Junior teams of McGill, Queen's, Toronto and Western Universities.
2. All possible emphasis to be placed upon Intramural competitions in each University.
3. No interference through athletics with the students' military or academic work.
4. No travelling by teams from McGill, Queen's, Toronto and Western to outside points.
5. In addition to Intramural programs, these University teams may enter local leagues, with the permission and under the responsibility of the individual universities.
6. Each University on its own responsibility may arrange for such local exhibition games as it sees fit—it being taken for granted that such games would not involve com-must pass the senior first aid course of the St. John Ambulance Association. They must also complete a supplementary course on ski safety and winter first aid.

STUDENTS ELIGIBLE.

McGill students who are members of the McGill Outing Club are eligible to join this ski patrol and classes will be held every Tuesday and Thursday from 8 to 10 p.m.

In addition to the conditions mentioned a test of skiing ability is required for all club and Canadian ski patrolmen. This will be known as the ski patrol test, and regular club test officials will examine patrolmen and pass them if satisfactory.

These tests are simple and consist of:

1. (a) Four linked stem turns slowly on a slope of approximately 15 degrees within a distance of 80 to 100 feet measured down the slope.
- (b) Four linked stem christianias under control but at reasonable speed (10 to 20 MPH) on a 20 to 30 degree slope within a distance of 100 to 150 feet measured down the slope.

(c) Descent in any manner the candidate chooses at reasonable speed on a 20 to 25 degree slope over a distance of 50 feet, coming to a stop at a spot designated in advance. Kick turns to right and left at this spot.

(d) Ascent on skis and descent of 1/4 mile with at least 500 feet vertical drop in no more than 45 minutes of elapsed time. The descent must be a continuous run under control at all points.

A knowledge of mountaineering ability, snow and avalanche conditions is also required for such sections of Canada where the need exists. Each year a review course is required of all patrolmen for reappointment.
